

Press Release: Real Estate Foreclosure Expert Shares Secrets to Investing in Bank Owned Properties and Short Sales

Lex Levinrad will be showing real estate investors how to invest in foreclosures, short sales and bank owned properties at the upcoming Distressed Real Estate Boot Camp

Boca Raton, Florida (PRWEB) October 16, 2011

Real estate expert Lex Levinrad has trained hundreds of real estate investors in South Florida. He will be showing real estate investors how to invest in foreclosures, short sales and bank owned properties at the upcoming Distressed Real Estate Boot Camp. This three-day boot camp is designed to teach new investors how to buy, fix and flip bank owned properties and short sales. The Distressed Real Estate Boot Camp will be held from November 18 to November 20 at the Westin Diplomat Hotel & Spa in Hollywood FL.

“We have had phenomenal success with our students” says Levinrad. “We have taught single moms, retirees and even the recently unemployed how to make money flipping bank owned properties and short sales.” “We have one student who is 21 years old that has flipped 7 houses and he was working at Wendy’s making $6.75 an hour before he started investing in real estate” said Levinrad.

The Distressed Real Estate Boot Camp will help new real estate investors as well as seasoned real estate investors with experience. The 3 day Boot Camp includes 2 ½ days of class room training along with a half day Distressed Real Estate Bus Trip visiting bank owned properties. Levinrad teaches new investors how to calculate after repair value and repair costs, which is crucial when determining how to make offers on bank owned properties.

“There is a huge opportunity to make money in the real estate market right now” declares Levinrad. “The abundance of foreclosures and short sales has created many distressed sellers that are walking away from their houses and these properties ultimately become bank owned properties. There is no shortage of cash buyers looking to scoop up these bargains with many of them being foreigners” said Levinrad.

Levinrad makes his money by wholesaling, fixing and flipping properties for a profit and that is what he teaches his students. “You don’t need cash or any prior experience to participate because we will train you, provide the cash to buy these properties and even find the buyers for you if the property is in Florida,” says Levinrad.

The cost to attend the boot camp is $1,297 for 3 days, which includes all training materials including a Home Study Course, Audio CD Set, Forms Discs and Books. Students must be pre-registered in order to attend the event.
